Dear: Dana GURĂU, Editor-in-chief
 INCFTP - Leather and Footwear Research Institute (ICPI)

I'm Ragil Yuliatmo, as the main corresponding author of the mentioned manuscript, would like to submit an Original Articles entitled "CHARACTERIZATION AND PRODUCTION OPTIMIZATION OF KERATINASE FROM THREE Bacillus STRAINS" for consideration for publication in Leather and Footwear Journal. The utilization of enzymes in leather making is a promising application. Researchers discover the keratinolytic enzyme. Most of them produced from Bacillus strain. The current study, we report the characterization and optimization of keratinase from three different Bacillus strains as an innovative solution in supporting the cleaner production of the tannery. In this manuscript, we show that keratinase from B. Thuringensis BRAW PT has optimum activity at 29°C, pH 8 to 12, and 90 minutes of incubation time, so it will

Dear Dr. Viorica DESENLICU, Editor-in-Chief of Leather and Footwear Journal

Herewith we attach the manuscript to be submitted in leather footwear journal. However, we are confused about the format of the required letters, because in instructions for authors are declared using Times New Roman letters, but in the paper template use calibri letter. However, we are ready to fix the appropriate commands from the editor.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely yours,
R. Lukas Satnio Ari Wibowo
